TO THE RESCUE.

There are probably just as many charitable persons in New York City this Summer of 1890 as there were in the Summer of 1889. There are probably more sick babies because there are more poor babies than a year ago, since the ratio of increase is greater than the decrease even in the most miserable districts and families.

Last year the Free Doctors' Fund received over $6,000. This year there should therefore be as large a sum contributed, since there is even greater need Another point which it would be well to suggest is this. A dol'ar is no more in June than it is in September. Most of who contributed to the Fund sent in their donations in one instalment.

Now, why should those who mean to help on this most worthy undertaking out off doing so for any length of time? True, it may be more convenient to spare money at one time than another, but if as many subscribe as there should be, small contributions from each will be all that is desired. On general grounds it is much more fitting to have a host of small contributions than a few large ones, because it denotes a healthier feeting in the com-

Therefore, good friends, send in what you intend to donate to the cause of the sick babies at once. Do not defer it, since there is no reason to do so,

A SISTER REPUBLIC. The United States, as the most success ful Republic existing in the world to-day, naturally feels an interest in the endeavor of other nations to govern themselves on a like broad and liberal basis. Contrary to the expectation of many France has subsisted for a term of years under a Republican regime which offers ground for hope that it has come to stay. Now, Brazil has adopted a Republican Constitution, largely based on that of our own country. It is to be hoped that the former Empire of Dom PEDBO will go successfully on in this new national venture despite the fact that the hot turbu lence of Central and South American peoples is material that is held together with some difficulty by the bonds of sober cool-headed Republicanism.

Brazil has American sympathy with her in this endeavor.

England has a new Peer. The Duke of CLARENCE was yesterday inducted into a seat in the House of Lords with the usual fol-de-rol attending this ceremony. His august grandmother advised the Peers that their new colleague should take precedence after his uncle, the Duke o CORNAUGHY.

The Duke of CLARENCE is ALBERT Victor, the sidest son of the Prince of Walks. The only distinction this muttonbeaded youth has yet attained is that of wearing preposterous collers and lavish cuffs, an achievement which has won him the graceful sobriquet of " Collars and

The real facts in the case are what the people are after, and they should know them.

BARA BERNHARDT is infatuated with HENRY STANLEY. She buys every new photograph of him and says she would gladly accompany him to the heart of Africa. This is charming in the ecstatic BERNHARDT, whose love is a distinction. But it is a safe bluff to aspire to an Africanhearted journey with the exploiter of EMIN BRY. Mrs. STANLEY will probably not allow HEXAT to go prowling around Africa sgain, and if she should would bar Sana out of the retinue.

Five bundred dollars is said to be the license demanded of the Coney Island sausage-vender. Why this savage blow at this cheerful industry? It looks as if the gentle simmer of the sausage would not be heard on Coney's sandy shore.

The sufferings of a babe in the threes of disease is a night calculated to arouse the atrongest sympathies in human nature. Unable to ask for what it needs, it must lie in its hot couch or toss in the mother's arms, feverish, ill and perhaps dying. A small sum suffices to purchase the necessary food and medicine under the advice of one of THE EVENING WORLD'S free physicians, and the suffering babe is freed from weeks and months of suffering. You can help save these little ones by a small contribution and bring joy to the wearied mother. Join the ranks of life-savers without delay then, as the heated term is upon us and France says it is all right about Zanzibar infantile mortality alarmingly large.

As a rule, a woman inlined to embonpoint bulges out above and below a tight corset. Under the elastic abdominal belt attached to a custom-made corset the figure is repressed and something like an outline developed. Where the flesh s over-abundant the belt is lengthened so that the corset becomes, like the reception and primenade toilet, a stand-up affair. Inspector Byrnes WORLD'S Great Composite Novel to begin Monday, June 30. GETTING A PEACEFUL SMOKE.

His Wife Refused Him the House, So He Goes to a Cell. There is a married man living uptown who dearly loves to smoke. Before he married he promised, of course, 170 as most men do, that the minute be was married he would quit > within a month after the wedding he was says the Buffalo Courier. Of course, he had the odor of tobacco smoke about his clothes continually, and he tried to make his wife believe that it came from being where other men were smoking, but she would not have it.

> So he boldly confessed and becan to smoking, and, of course, as most men do, would not have it.

So he boldly confessed and began to smoke in the house. This she declared she would not endure, and the poor gentlemen was put to his trumps to satisfy his craving for the weed.

As it happens, there is a police station across the way, and he bethought him that the officers might permit him to smoke in one of the detention cells.

If applied to the Captain and his request was granted, So every evening now he strolls over to the police station, goes into a cell and smokes his pipe in peace.

IT WAS ALMOST A MIRACLE

THE WONDERFUL STORY TOLD BY THOMAS BEAIRSTO OF YONKERS.

He Had Bronchial Catarrh for Ten Years and Physicians Did Him No Good, but Drs. Copeland and Blair Bare Made Him Strong and Bearty. "I had had this trouble for ten years, and you can imagine my joy at recovering from it. Is was a imagine my joy at recovering from it. Is was a imaged a milet." Solker, to the writer during a recent interview. "A first I did not know what alled me, "outlineed Mr. Beairsto. "I consulted a physician, who told me that my broughful tubes were affected; or, in other words, that I had Brossella Classrab. He treated me for the trouble, but did me no good.

MR. THOMAS BEAIRSTO, 160 ASHGURTON AVE., YONKERS, N. Y.

"My head would ache, my eyes water. There were ringing or huzzing noises in my ears. My nose was stopped up first on one side then on the other, My breathing was abort and labored. If I would stoop over and arise audienly I would get so dizzy that I would stagger like a blund man. My throat would be filled with the mucus which dropped into it from my head. I harked and spit constantly. My cheet pais ad me. It felt as though come one was resting tweir weight on it. Then sharp pains would bart through my sites and back. I could not alsep at night. I would be awake coughing until I was nitserly exhausted. In the morning I would always feel wratched, I don't believe any one was as miserable as I was.

"Yes, I am well now, and feel strong and hearty, and I over it all to Drs. Copeland and flair. I hope my story will be the means of doing others good. I am evy grateful for what Drs. Copeland and Blair have done for me." MR. THOMAS BEAIRSTO, 100 ASHSURTOR

THE BURGLAR AND THE SLOT. How a Gentlemanly Thief Beat the Opera-Glass Machine, A gentlemanly burglar went to the National the other night, says the Washington Post. The burglar is taking a vacation just at present. He was very much interested in the patent drop-a-dims-in-the-slot-and-get-a-pair-of-opera-glasses box. He looked it over and over and anon chuckled withm:

"Well, this is fine. Now let us see."

He dropped a dime in at the top turned the screw and the lid fell. The glasses came out.

"In New York they had printed on the lining the statement that the opening of the box was communicated to the ticketoffice outside by some electrical device,
But it was a fake, and they had to chain the glasses as these are chained. Now let us see."

He took a pair of nippers from his pocket and cut the chain. The glasses were placed in his overcoat.

"Hum! ha!"

He defly took a hairpin from the lady in front, gave it a few bends and went to work. In just forty seconds he had got into the cash till and recovered his dime with three others. He then pushed it work. In just forty seconds he had got into the cash till and recovered his dime with three others. He then pushed it back in place. The lid still remained open. He gently pushed it to.

"You have to use a special key to lock it up. Now see."

He gave the hairpin another twist, probed into the slot at the top, hooked something and gave a stout pull. The lid was closed, the opera-glasses gone and the till tapped. He straightened the hairpin gave it the proper turn and inserted it among the lady's tree es.

"Some time within a month that box will be opened," said he, as he walked out, "and a disappointed glass hunter will have a row with the doorkeeper or whoever has it in charge. The Company is getting up some electric devices to indicate when one of their opera-glasses goes outdoors. It will work by magic attraction at the door. But the first man they haul up will have a banch of keys that set a machine to jumping, and the first lady will have steel corset ribs. Oh, it's a great scheme."

The Only Thing He Has to Change. "I am very curious to know, Mr. Stan-ley," said the interested roung person, "what the unclothed savage of the African wilds does when the temperature changes—having no clothes, of course, he cannot change them?"
"No madame," replied the intracid traveller, "but he changes his mind. That's all he has to change." Prom Life. 1
